What is an onshore rig?

Onshore rigs operate on land. They include land rigs, desert rigs, and mobile rigs. These rigs are flexible, used for oil, gas, geothermal, and water well drilling. Onshore rigs are often cheaper than those at sea. If playback doesn't begin shortly, try restarting your device.

Do oil and gas companies own the land they drill on?

The foundational legal document of the U.S. oil and gas industry is the oil and gas lease. Oil and gas producing companies do not always own the land they drill on. Often, the company (the lessee) leases the mineral rights from the owner (the lessor).

How much does it cost to build an offshore oil rig?

Building an offshore oil rig typically costs between $500 million and $1 billion. The price varies based on the type of rig, water depth, and the complexity of its design and equipment. Deepwater rigs, which need more advanced technology, are at the higher end of this range. How much does it cost to build a drillship?

How much does it cost to rent a rig?

The cost to rent a rig varies by type and location. Onshore rigs cost between $200,000 to $310,000 per day. Offshore rigs can be $600,000 to $800,000 per day. Buying a rig means a big upfront cost but saves money in the long run for frequent use. It lets you customize the equipment and avoids rental fees.
